

I understand that the FCC is considering a new broadcast system called low powered FM. I further understand that this new system will have priority over current FM translator service. I oppose this new system because it will prohibit me from listening to my local KLOVE station at 88.5 FM in Clovis, New Mexico.

KLOVE serves me as a resident of Clovis by providing encouraging and helpful programming in accordance with my Christian beliefs. The format provides music that is entertaining yet provides a clear message. The message only (sermon)programming provided by other stations do not fulfill my needs as a listener.

If the local KLOVE station of 88.5 were to cease programming, my only alternative to listen would be via the internet. Due to bandwidth restrictions at my place of employment, I would be effectively restricted to listening to KLOVE during the weekend only. The loss of the positive, non-drug/non-violence message would only serve to further fill our local airwaves with music that glorifies lifestyles that contradict the laws of our land and promote chaos and disunity.

KLOVE serves the public interest by providing useful information on contemporary Christian music performances in our local area. KLOVE further provides helpful information on parenting, relationships, consequences of our actions, and local and national news which emphasizes the positive rather than the negative.

I appreciate your time and consideration in allowing KLOVE to continue to broadcast in Clovis at 88.5 FM.
